

April 5, 2006

Mr. Gruenberg:

It's bad enough that Wal-Mart nickles and dimes its employees in the form of low wages and scant health benefits. I refuse to shop there for that very reason. Do Americans really need a Bank of Wal-Mart as well with no FDIC protection? I've read reports that the board of directors of the FDIC might not attend the Wal-Mart hearings!

Sir, please reconsider. Wal-Mart has no business becoming a bank entity as well. We have plenty of banks here in Palm Coast, we don't need another that treats its "associates" like slaves.

Respectfully,

Lily Sanchez
Palm Coast, FL 32164